TUMOR OF FOUR YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindley, Ind. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They said that only an operation could help me. I am very glad that I followed a friend's advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it has made me a strong and well woman, and I shall recommend it as long as I live." — Mrs. MAY FRY, Lindley, Ind.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

State Funeral of Prince Ito At Tokio

Public Services at Kibya Park—Simple Ceremonies, Magnificent Solemnity—American Wreath Among the Floral Offerings.

Tokio, Nov. 4.—The state funeral of the late Prince Ito today was conducted with magnificent solemnity. It began with simple ceremonies at the Ito city home at 7 o'clock this morning. Only members of the immediate family and the closest personal friends were present. At 9 o'clock a procession formed, and headed by the Imperial band playing Chopin's Funeral March, moved to Kibya Park, a mile and a half distant, where public services were held. The park was crowded with men in evening dress and women in black. Many of these were foreigners. A special shrine had been erected and in this the catafalque rested during the ceremonies, which occupied three hours.

Floral Offerings from Other Lands. Here a wreath was presented by American Ambassador Thomas O'Brien on behalf of President Taft, while similar floral offerings were made in the name of their governments by British Ambassador McDonald, Count Monteglas, German charge d'affaires, and representatives of the governments of France, Russia, Austria and Italy.

There were also floral tributes made by Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, in the name of the British army, and by the delegation of Koreans now in this country.

Interment at Omori. At the conclusion of these rites the catafalque was again placed upon the gun carriage, and at 2 o'clock the march to Omori, where the interment was to be made, was begun. Along the route of six miles, numberless thousands looked on in silence. The interment was made at dusk in the immediate presence of the family, a few personal friends, representatives of the emperor and empress and others of the royalty.

Korean Funeral Rites at Seoul. Seoul, Nov. 4.—The state funeral in honor of Prince Ito was conducted here today during the same hours that services were held over the body at Tokio. The Korean funeral rites were used and all the Korean officials and most prominent personages of the city were present. The greatest sorrow was exhibited.

MONUMENT TO COLUMBUS.

Waterbury Italians Will Erect One —To Be Unveiled Next Year.

The Sons of Columbus of Waterbury held a meeting recently and passed a vote to hold a reception in Buckingham square hall some time in December to raise funds for the erection of a Christopher Columbus monument in Waterbury next year. It is planned by the society to unveil the monument at the Columbus day celebration held in Waterbury on October 12, 1910, a vote having been passed at the last celebration held in New Haven, selecting Waterbury as the place for the next celebration. There are 15 Italian societies in Waterbury and eight of these have already voted in favor of raising a monument. The other societies have not taken any action in the matter.

BOUNTY ON SHADE TREES.

Town May Appropriate Money for Tree Warden's Use.

The public acts of 1909 in regard to the bounty on shade trees has done away with all provision for the care by the state of shade trees planted previous to June 23, 1909, when the law went into effect. Attorney General Holcomb claims that the only provision made for this purpose by the new law is that "every town may appropriate annually a sum of money, not exceeding the aggregate of 50 cents for each of its ratable polls in the preceding year to be expended by the tree warden in the planting or care of shade trees in the public way."

For all shade trees planted after June 23, 1909, and under the tree so planted at least one and one-half inches in diameter measured two feet from the ground. Permission must have been received from the selectmen as to the location of such trees, and a statement of the number of trees, their variety, and the name of the town, the road or street and the date of planting, must be attested by the tree warden.

HISTORIC SWORD

In Custody of the Daughter of Lieutenant Truesdell.

Mrs. A. L. Bradley of No. 30 Bahcock street, daughter of the late First Lieut. Charles A. Truesdell, of the First Connecticut Heavy artillery, is the custodian of her father's sword and sash. Lieutenant Truesdell served four years in the war and was one of four sons of Augustus Truesdell of Rockville, who went to the front, serving in different regiments. Alfred Truesdell died in Libby prison and was buried in an unknown grave. Martin Truesdell lost his right arm at the battle of Fair Oaks and died in New Haven hospital. Harlin Truesdell, a mere stripling of a boy when he went out, lived to come home, as did also Lieutenant Truesdell, the oldest of the brothers, who in the last year of service was adjutant on the staff of General Abbott and was at the taking of Fort Fisher and Richmond, Va. Lieutenant Truesdell had a splendid military career, wearing his well earned sword with honor during the heavy sieges that the First Connecticut Heavy artillery was engaged in in 1864. It was during this siege that Lieutenant Truesdell narrowly escaped death. He had been resting in his tent with his knapsack under his head for a pillow and went outside for a few moments, when a shell came into the tent, burning through his knapsack and effects. It was one of the providential escapes from death in the history of the Civil war.

Lieutenant Truesdell was the tentmate of the late Chief George A. Bill of the Hartford police force for the first three years in service. They owned a little house with just room for two at Fort Scott, Alexandria, which was very comfortable quarters as compared with some of the soldiers' homes of the First Heavy while waiting for action. Lieutenant Truesdell, after arriving home, was in correspondence with General Abbott and Governor Buckingham and left autograph letters of these two noted persons that rest still in possession of Lieutenant Truesdell's widow. They bear testimony of honorable service. Lieutenant Truesdell died June 23, 1898, at Meriden. —Hartford Courant.

BIG TWO-MASTER

Loading with Railroad Ties at East Haddam.

The Oliver Ames, said to be the largest two-masted schooner in the world, is at East Haddam, loading with 10,000 railroad ties at the wharf of C. B. Warner. Some idea of the size of the vessel is given by the cargo she carries. She can take a larger freight than the four-masted Frances Hyde that used to run from Maine to the Beneventure quarry. The Ames when loaded draws 14 feet of water. On account of low water in the river she cannot take a full cargo at river points and does not load below the 11-foot line. The vessel is commanded by Captain Morgan, a veteran of the civil war.

WIRELESS STATION.

Bridgeport to Have Telegraph Communication Via the Air.

A wireless station put up for commercial purposes by the United Wireless company, of the DeForest system, will be in full operation at the plant of the American and British Manufacturing company, in Bridgeport, within two weeks. The task of construction is now nearing completion and everything will be in readiness for the work of the wireless operator in a short time. The acquisition will not only be a big thing for the American and British company, and other manufacturers, but for the public in general in case individuals are desirous of sending messages out to ships at sea instead of going to New York to make such inquiries.

The station is one of a chain which has been established between Newfoundland and Florida, and which are erected along the coast. The American and British company have a plant at Providence, R. I., and the establishment of the local station, together with another in the Washington navy yard, will facilitate their business with the government and with the Providence plant.

It will be possible when the station is opened to talk with the authorities at Washington and get immediate response.

The Source of Cottolene Is Pleasing

From the snowy tufts of the cotton plant, the seed is removed, crushed, and the oil extracted. This in turn is refined by our own special process and the oil made odorless and neutral in taste.

Being a vegetable product, cottonseed oil is free from any possible taint of animal infection. You cannot be absolutely sure of this when buying hog lard, for fats of animal origin are, of necessity, not as healthful as fats obtained from vegetable sources. Right there is the difference between lard and Cottolene from the standpoint of health.

If every housewife would but stop to think of the difference in purity, cleanliness and healthfulness of hog lard and Cottolene, lard would never again be used in any home.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.
